

MARITIME ON-LINE SHIP REPORTING FACTS

MOL SUMMARY

Maritime On-Line® (MOL) integrates TRACS, Ship Reporting, NOAA/D On-Line, and the Automatic Identification System in a comprehensive maritime information web portal. Through a single login account, subscribers can access a vessel's schedule, manifest data, notice of arrival/departure, and real-time position information.

SHIP REPORTING SUMMARY

Ship Reporting provides subscribers with information on ships currently in port, future estimated activity, and historical vessel movement information. Since 1872, the Maritime Exchange has reported this information to member businesses and organizations throughout the tristate region.

In cooperation with the Pilots' Association for the Bay and River Delaware, the Maritime Exchange communicates with cargo vessels, tugs, and barges transiting regional waterways and relays ship location, schedule changes, and other pertinent information to member companies in real time.

In addition, Ship Reporting subscribers have access to a host of information about each vessel and its schedule, such as arrival/departure dates/times, terminal/berth locations, and load/discharge cargos. The system also provides vessel particular information, including owner information, lengths and drafts, previous names, and identifying numbers from various vessel registries.
