

APHIS AQI Treatment Monitoring User Fee Increases to $237 on December 28, 2019

USDA Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service sent this bulletin at 11/15/2019 04:32 PM EST

On December 28, 2019, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) will increase the Agriculture Quarantine Inspection (AQI) treatment monitoring user fee from $190 to $237. The AQI treatment monitoring fee has been phased in over a 5-year period as described in the October 2015 final rule that adjusted AQI user fees. December 28, 2019 is the final phase in the 2015 rulemaking.

Please visit the AQI User Fee page on the APHIS Web site for information about the fees. To ask a question, please send an email to AQI.user.fees@aphis.usda.gov. For a directory of AQI User Fee contacts, please visit the AQI User Fee Contacts page.
