TO: Maritime Exchange Members

The CDC updated the “Interim Guidance for Ships on Managing Suspected or Confirmed Cases of Coronavirus Disease 2019.” This guidance applies to cruise ships and non-cruise ships (i.e. any platform that does not carry passengers). It provides guidance for preventing the spread of COVID-19 during and after a voyage, including personal protective measures, management of sick or exposed persons on board, reporting suspected or confirmed cases, and cleaning and disinfection recommendations for common areas on the ship and areas previously occupied by individuals with suspected or confirmed COVID-19.

Questions regarding this guidance should be directed to Outbreakquestions@uscg.mil.

The CDC also just published the latest edition of the Philadelphia Quarantine Station's COVID-19 newsletter.

The purpose of the newsletter is to provide all partners in the tristate area with the latest CDC guidance about the COVID-19 pandemic. The newsletters are now published on a bi-weekly basis and posted to the Exchange's COVID-19 webpage.
